THE BRAND

Our trademark breathes simplicity and sophistication. We at Counting Sheep Studio aim to help your business nurture lasting relationships with our trusted clients.

The simple logo of a sheep is an image with a hundred meanings. The sheep represents our client as we, the shepherds, guide you and your business towards your success stories.

For someone to fall asleep and have good dreams, thinking of counting sheep is always a good idea.

THE STUDIO

Counting Sheep Studio is the brainchild of three experienced artists who specialize in the creative field. Our unorthodox style in advertising, marketing, events, and conceptualization is what sets us apart from other design labs.

At Counting Sheep Studio, we don't only build brands- we make success stories. We take pride in providing out-of-this-world ideas that will surely fit our client's taste. By coming up with creative and strategic visual works, we are able to provide solutions through creative means time and time again.

Whether you need a logo, illustration, event, or whatever the creative gods blessed us with, greatness is always our standard. Counting Sheep Studio commits itself to continuous research, learning, and experimentation to provide our clients with the highest quality of creativity they deserve.

TEAM SHIPU

Meet the brains behind the brawn.

JOMAR ANTONIO

With a knack for organization, Joms takes the lead in project management. He quickly understands and deciphers the client's demands all while translating whatever business challenges they may have into success stories.

20 years in the industry is no laughing matter as this serves as the blueprint that guides our team and ensures everybody is on the same page. Before Counting Sheep Studio, he worked as a Creative Director in other top design studios and agencies around the Metro.

During his time in previous agencies, he handled brands such as Bench, Bizu, Cibo, DMCI, Fully Booked, Globe, Kenny Rogers, Natasha, Nescafe, Potato Corner, Rogin E. Western Union, Yellow Cab, and many more.

A portrait of a woman with long, dark hair, wearing a black t-shirt. Her face is obscured by a thick, horizontal black bar. The image has a slight red and blue color cast, giving it a 3D or glitch-like appearance.

MEIA ALVAREZ

Meia is a digital artist, illustrator, and the Creative Head of the studio. She puts her heart on her sleeve when creating her original works combined with new, evolving techniques in art. Whatever the design requirement might be, it all seems to come naturally to Meia. It is ingenuity and the love for creative detail that makes her talent shine. She ensures client satisfaction from the beginning of a project until the end, bringing to light that 'communication is key.'

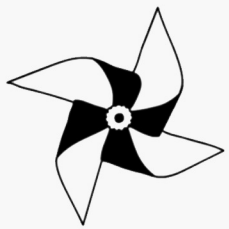

Before the birth of the studio, she has worked with GMA Network for KMJS, TwoAnyone, Ambient Media, and Breakout Philippines.

JAM SALAZAR

Having a background in marketing and digital art when combining unique ideas with new marketing techniques, Jam is the textbook definition of an excellent leader to his junior designers. With an easy-to-work-with personality and positive attitude, he easily identifies and understands the different flavors each member brings to the team and how to push their ideas to the forefront. The result is a little bit of everything on what makes Counting Sheep great.

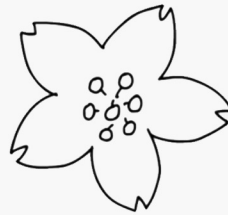

He divulged into different artistic and creative environments before working at the studio. Photography, logo development, and digital layouting are just the tip of the iceberg with outputs done for Manila Bulletin, National Bookstore, Tyler's Cafe, and ATP Construction.

A black and white photograph of a traditional Japanese temple courtyard. In the background, a large, ornate gate with a tiled roof stands under a sky with bare tree branches. The courtyard is paved with stone tiles and flanked by low wooden fences. A large banner with Japanese characters hangs from the gate. The text "CHANGING THE WORLD. ONE DESIGN AT A TIME." is overlaid in a bright green box across the center of the image.
